G'wood board seeks to oust tax assessor

By WENDY HANSCOM

A long-simmering dispute over where Greenwood's assessment records should be stored has led the town's selectmen to call for the replacement of tax assessor Herbert Dunham.

Selectman Marie Bartlett said Dunham, who has been the town's sole assessor for over 20 years, has failed to comply with the selectmen's repeated requests to

"The selectmen feel it is in the best interest of the town to have the records at the town office and not in a private residence," Bartlett said. "We've had a lot of complaints about people not having access to them. They have to make an appointment with (Dunham) to view the records. There are no updated tax records at the town office. We need the records and we asked for them three years ago when he was

At various times in the past three years, the assessor has said:

- he would bring in the records
- the records (field cards) do not exist
- the records are in his attic
- he was "too busy chopping wood" to bring in updated records.

The stand-off has continued for more than three years--since 1989 when Dunham was ousted from the selectmen's seat he had held for 19 years.

The current selectmen say they want the records at the town office so that residents may examine them on request, Bartlett said.

reappointed to another three-year term, but we're not getting any cooperation."

Bartlett said the town's three selectmen were unanimous in their recommendation that Dunham be replaced.

Contacted at his home, Dunham refused to comment on the dispute other than to call it a "smoke

Land Trust receives large Newry easement

The Mahoosuc Land Trust this week announced that it has received a conservation easement to a 133-acre tree farm in Newry. The property, on the northerly side of the Sunday River Access Road, lies between the Sunday River Ski Touring Center and the Jack Frost Ski Shop. It is currently used for cross-country skiing and commercial forestry.

The easement was donated by the parcel's owners, Richard and Virginia Williamson and Phyllis Stevens. The easement is a legal document which allows the Williamson, and future owners, to maintain all rights of ownership except the right to develop the land. The easement also allows the public to enjoy low-impact hiking, nature observation and cross-country skiing on the property, provided the natural resources are not misused.

"Buster and Ginny had been contemplating the donation for quite some time, and approached us in the fall to discuss a means of maintaining the property permanently in its natural state as a tree farm, while keeping it in their ownership," said Mahoosuc Land Trust Executive Director Marcel Polak.

The preparation of the easement was a cooperative effort of the Mahoosuc Land Trust and the Maine Coast Heritage Trust. Polak worked with the statewide conservation organization's experts on crafting the easement to fit the desires of the donors and the conservation purposes of the land trust. Local attorney Michael O'Donnell also assisted in formalizing the document.

One of the significant rights retained by the Williamson and any future owners is for timber harvesting, provided that commercial harvesting is done according to a forest management plan. "The Mahoosuc Land Trust strongly supports the continuation of forestry practices on conservation land, provided that it is done in a silviculturally sound manner," said Polak.

The land trust assumes the right, and the perpetual responsibility, of monitoring the property on an annual basis to ensure that the terms of the easement are being followed. Since it is a deed in perpetuity, the trust arranged with the Maine Coast Heritage Trust to serve as back-up

Elderhostelers reach 100

Newry's Sunday River Inn hosted its 100th Elderhostel program last week.

Elderhostel participants from Washington, Colorado, Florida, North Carolina, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Illinois, and Maine enjoyed biking through the area's spring scenery and studying birds of the Northeast with Chris Lewey and stained glass art with Robin Fraser.

Sunday River Inn began offering Elderhostel programs in 1983 in response to a demand for more and varied campuses (which now number over 1,900 worldwide) and as a way to expand its business during midweek and slow seasons. In 1989 the inn joined forces with Bethel Historical Society to strengthen its programming and to meet a requirement of the Elderhostel organization that programs run at commercial establishments have a clear educational focus. The two organizations now offer as many as 20 weeks of programming each year throughout the fall, winter, and spring seasons.

According to Steve and Peggy Wight, owners of Sunday River Inn, the secret to the success of the programs has been a mixture of course offerings which includes outdoor activity, thought-provoking discussion, and hands-on opportunity. Enhancing the experience for the past 10 years has been the friendly, supportive environment produced by Sunday River Inn and its staff and the unique opportunity that Elderhostelers have had to share with local residents both in their classes and on Main Street. The large number of repeat participants in each program attests to the popularity both of the courses and of the unique appeal of the area.

Course offerings for each week of Elderhostel programming at Sunday River Inn are the responsibility of Mary McVey, the inn's assistant manager and Elderhostel coordinator. Her job includes scheduling instructors, providing copy to the Elderhostel catalog, insuring the quality of each academic course, communicating with participants prior to their arrival, greeting and registering arriving guests, and serving as hostess during the five or six days of each program. "It's demanding work," Mary says, "yet the rewards are great. The Elderhostelers are vibrant, interesting people who really appreciate the opportunity to take part in our programs."

Elderhostel courses will begin again in September at Sunday River Inn. For a full catalog describing the programs here and worldwide write Elderhostel, 75 Federal St., Boston, Mass. 02110.

Newry folks support CPS addition, but fret financing

By WENDY HANSCOM

Bucks, not bricks and mortar were on the mind of Newry residents who attended last week's informational meeting on the proposed Crescent Park School addition.

Twenty-one townspeople turned out for the meeting, the second in a series being held this month throughout the district.

"I'm very, very concerned ... that we're going to build a beautiful school and have no staff to put in it. The funds that are put into debt service may be cut from the operational side of the budget."

JOE ALOISIO
Newry

The residents who showed up generally supported the proposal, (as did the 20 or so Dover residents at an earlier meeting), but the Newry voters asked several questions about the addition's funding--questions district officials present had few hard answers for.

Financing for the CPS project is complex. District officials say they can not forecast with any accuracy how much the addition will eventually cost the district.

SAD #44 Business Manager Bruce Powell estimated that if district voters approve the project, the average local tax bill will increase $12 to $14 for the first year of the payback

Bethel Town Meeting is quick and quiet

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It took the 80 Bethel voters who turned out for Wednesday's annual Town Meeting only an hour and a half to approve the 29 article warrant, which included a municipal budget of $1,111,692 and amendments to the town's sewer use ordinance.

Except for turnout (once again, under 5 percent of those eligible) Wednesday's meeting was in sharp contrast to the previous year's meeting, at which voters took twice as long to dispatch the warrant, and--after occasionally rancorous debate--ultimately rejected a number of items.

But voters Wednesday confined their comments largely to matters of clarification, and they ultimately approved all the articles on the warrant, agreeing in the process to all the funding requests presented by the board of selectmen and budget committee.

They even opted to spend a bit more than town officials recommended--adding $250 to the Bethel Library's funding. The addition brought the library's subsidy to $6,500, the same level it has been at for the past two years.

The increase in library funding, proposed by Linda Saunders, passed overwhelmingly, but a similar attempt to increase all the social service request back to last year's level fell one vote short of passage.

The social services requests had been cut 10 percent across the board by the selectmen and budget committee, who "really agonized over these kinds of cuts," according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

"You won't get arguments for any of us if you want to put that money back in the budget," she told the meeting, following Walter Hatch's proposal to restore the agencies' funding to last year's levels.

But, she said, the selectmen and budget committee thought it was their responsibility to hold the tax level steady, even if that meant cutting worthwhile services.

Following brief discussion, the voters present agreed to the cuts,

Lower Main Streeters fear for fate of trees

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Lower Main Street residents and business owners hope to learn more Tuesday about what impact this summer's scheduled revitalization project will have on their neighborhood--especially on the trees in their neighborhood.

The Bethel selectmen have scheduled an informational meeting for Tuesday (June 23) at 7 p.m. to discuss the summer's work--which will include replacing the storm and sewer lines in the lower Main Street area, widening the road, lowering some sidewalks, and establishing parking spaces along both sides of the road.

Town officials also acknowledge that several large trees along the way will probably have to come down, either because they are directly in the path of the work or because their roots will be severely damaged by the digging.

The loss of the trees appears to be the greatest concern of neighborhood residents. "We are still a little old New England village," said Lynn Mason, "and the trees are a big part of our ambience and charm."

Business owners Cheri Thurston of the Sudbury Inn and Melodie Boniema of Boniema Pottery also worried about the trees in front of their properties, and about the aesthetic qualities that they fear will vanish with the trees.

"I'm hoping we can work something out so we don't radically change the look of lower Main Street," Boniema said.

The selectmen and town manager have promised to work closely with affected property owners, and, for now, most of them appear to be taking a wait-and-see attitude toward Tuesday's meeting.

"We really don't know a lot of the details yet," Thurston said. "We should know a lot more Tuesday."

Opinions

Two grace notes

The recent flurry of restaurant proposals in Bethel and Newry, along with other signs of quickening business activity, is encouraging evidence that the long-awaited economic revival may finally be taking hold.

But with economic revival comes development pressures, pressures that have been largely dormant since the recession knocked optimism out of the economic ring in 1989.

And with development—for better and worse—once again looming, it's good to note two recent steps to set aside local land for purposes that have little to do with the bottom line.

The Mahoosuc Land Trust's acquisition of a conservation easement to a 133-acre woodland in Newry, and Dan Davis' donation to Bethel of a 1.5 acre riverside lot at the foot of town will ensure that two prime pieces of land will be enjoyed by everyone, long after the current round of economic booms and busts has passed.

The easement to the Newry land, donated by Richard and Virginia Williamson and Phyllis Stevens, will keep the woodland as woodland—however much pressures for strip development build along the approaches to Sunday River Ski Resort. The easement will protect important natural resource values, keep the woodland and its paths assessable to hikers and cross-country skiers, and mean that alpine skiers will look out over treetops rather than rooftops and parking lots.

Back in Bethel, the Davis parcel will provide the town not only with a riverside recreational area, but also with an opportunity to develop an attractive "gateway" to the village. It's a unique chance to signal to passersthrough—many of whom have with no idea of what lies ahead up Main Street—that Bethel is more than just the next-to-last right before Sunday River.

Both parcels will provide us all with enduring pleasures in the years to come. The individuals whose generosity and energy led to the donations are to be sincerely thanked.

Letters to the Editor:

STUDY ADDITION

To the Editor:

I am a parent of three children, two of whom go to Crescent Park School presently. I am also a member of the CPS-PTA. Crescent Park School is a wonderful place for our children to learn.

As you are probably aware the CPS-PTA in cooperation with efforts from SAD #44 Building and Grounds Committee are presenting information about our new addition, information in the form of public informational meeting, mailed newsletters, questionnaires, and videos that are available for viewing. I hope in some way you are able to obtain some of this very important information concerning this addition to our school. The CPS-PTA have given a large amount of time and effort to this project.

I feel we owe it to our children to know the facts after all, it is for them this great effort is being made. My sons may not benefit from this new addition. But in my heart I feel this is the best decision we can make for the future children to come.

I know most all of us have someone we love that will benefit enormously from the new addition to Crescent Park. I fully support this great effort. Please allow yourself to make a decision based on factual information. The decision is all of ours. We'd greatly appreciate your support.

MISS SUE SAYS 'THANKS'

To the Editor:

To the cast and workers of Mary Poppins—What can I say? Jane and Michael were adorable. (Kimberly Tibbets and Brian Zinchuk) Bert (Peter Lawton) gave Dick Van Dyke a run for his money. Lovely Heather Roberts as Mary Poppins was perfection itself and will be off to college charming them with her magical ways.

My dancers all came thru with flying colors. You made me proud to call you students of Children's Dance Theater. My assistants, Bonny Marshall and Cheri Cordova, worked side by side with me as did my secretary, Nancy Howe.

For fear of leaving out names I'll simply say—thanks to all of you who so willingly helped in all departments since January. However, a special thanks as usual must go to Jim Sysko for his engineering feats of flying everything in sight from Mary Poppins to kites—he even swept me off my feet.

Bravo. Bravo. Chimney sweeps. Not only for your rollicking toe tapping dance but your nimble footwork behind the scenes.

Thank you all. I love you. See you in the fall.

LET'S MAKE IT HAPPEN

To the Editor:

By accepting the generous donation of a 1.5 acre parcel of land on the Androscoggin River from Dan Davis the voters of the town of Bethel have made a very significant investment in the future. The parcel which can be developed with state and federal recreation funds, can provide a gateway to the village and serve as a resource for residents and visitors alike. Its location in the bend of the river makes it ideal for "out and back" canoeing in the slow current. With the continued effort and cooperation of town officials and local groups it can become a perfect place for picnics and evening canoe rides for young and old for years to come. Let's make it happen.

defeating Hatch's amendment 38-39.

The remaining financial articles on the warrant passed by wide margins, including a $10,000 cut in the police reserve account—from $13,500 last year to $3,500 for the current year.

Mabel Walker asked what the effect of the cut would be on police coverage. Henley explained that the town now had three full-time officers, and that the $3,500 remaining in the account would be enough to provide coverage during their scheduled vacations or holidays, but not for sick days or emergency leaves. During those times coverage is provided by the Oxford County Sheriff's Office.

Sewer changes OK'd

Voters also overwhelmingly approved changes to the town's sewer use regulations. The changes represent a scaled-down version of a more comprehensive revision that was narrowly rejected by voters at last year's Town Meeting.

The only aspect of the changes to draw much discussion was a provision absolving the town from responsibility for damages caused by sewerage backflows—unless the property owner had installed a backflow valve.

Robert Saunders challenged the provision, arguing that it imposed an unnecessary expense on property owners, and that it would be simpler and more cost effective for the town just to pay for any backflow damages.

Pressed for details on the past cost of such cleanups, Henley estimated that in a given year the town might spend nothing, or as much as $12,000.

Wastewater treatment plant operator Rob Gundersen estimated that there are, on average, five backflows a year into homes, and in a bad case, he said, "You could potentially get 100,000 gallons coming into your basement from that main line."

Henley, however, argued that "The issue is not the cost to clean up, but the fairness of who bears that cost."

Saunders' amendment calling for the deletion of the backflow valve provision was ultimately defeated by a wide margin.

In other business Wednesday, voters agreed to accept donation of 20-by-100 foot parcel of land from Gould Academy, and a 1.5 acre riverfront parcel donated by Dan Davis.

The Gould parcel, located behind the fire station, will allow the town to expand the parking lot located there.

The Davis parcel, located between Route 26 and the former L.E. Davis lumber yard, will be used for recreation purposes only. The town hopes to construct a picnic/playground area and boat launch on the property.

Henley said there is no money in the current operational budget for such improvements, but the town has applied for funding under the "Jobs Bond" approved by Maine voters Tuesday. Word on the applications is expected by the end of the month.

Another meeting Thursday

Due to a town office oversight in putting together the warrant for last week's meeting, the renewal of the town's shoreland zoning ordinance was inadvertently left off the warrant.

The selectmen have scheduled a special Town Meeting for tomorrow (Thursday), June 18 to deal with the omitted item.

The meeting will be held at Telstar High School and will begin at 7 p.m.

Town officials reelected

In balloting for town offices Tuesday, incumbent selectmen Arthur Gilbert (224 votes) and John Thurston (276) were reelected to three-year terms, defeating challengers Harry Faulkner (198) and Robert Saunders (166).

Gilbert (399) and write-in candidate Victor Coolidge (6) were elected to three-year terms as assessors.

Political shrink wrap

By MIKE BROWN

Despite much political election rhetoric, don't look for the coming 116th Legislature to change the size of its mother lode—or impose term limits on rank and file or leadership.

The incumbent political clout, and status quo, of the Legislature is huge. As new and more veteran candidates step into the batter's box hoping for a hit in November, it's virtually certain that the re-elected incumbents will still be calling the legislative business line-up after January, 1993.

Not that many incumbents and most challengers are flailing the political wheat field pontificating that size reduction and term limits make better bread for the peasantry. But it's mostly chaff carried away by the political winds of the day.

The incumbent clout is plainly evident in that legislative "studies" over the years—including the latest $50,000 kissy-face study by Peat Marwick in 1990, don't even suggest a peek at membership reduction or term limits.

It would seem that any "study" would surface the power fact that relatively more bills are introduced (over 2,000 biennially) and enacted into law in Maine than most states of similar or larger populations.

Legislative bills cost money. They cost money to produce, promulgate and enforce. Once in the statutes, they stick like Crazy Glue. Prior attempts to limit the number of introduced bills didn't even get out of committee.

Limboing out the legislative tree does, however, have its inherent problems. One is that there are 20 legislative committees. If that number remains, then 50 fewer representatives would serve on multiples of committees. Some Legislators complain now that they don't have time for even two or three committees. A legitimate problem because committees meet simultaneously.

Another burr under the reduction saddle is the representation factor. Fewer legislators means larger constituencies. However, compared to almost another state legislature, Maine has a very low ratio of citizens per legislator in both House and Senate.

Currently, the median constituency for a Maine Senator is 35,000. For a Representative, 7,500. But 1993 will be a reapportionment year and these numbers will change.

Whether the cost of a reduced Legislature will rise, fall or stay the same ($14 million) is an unknown. The pro status quo claim fewer legislators will mean larger staffs. The pro shrinkers say this is ridiculous. For instance, the minority Senate staff of three persons handle their Senators' problems with dispatch and competence. (Not that a couple more staffers wouldn't be welcome, says special assistant May N. Ross.)

Legislators Against Fewer Representatives (LAFERS) warn that fewer pols in the State House will mean bigger staffs—a larger pod of untouchable bureaucrats.

That's doubtful, because all legislative employees are unclassified which means they can be hired and fired at will. If term limits were enacted along with a reduction in size, that would mean a constant changing of staff guards because new leaders want their own staff.

The size of Maine's Legislature was banded about in both political conventions this year. The D's, the majority party, obviously don't want to diminish their leadership power. The Democrat platform stated, "We oppose limiting the tenure of elected officials since term limits deprive the government of the services of experienced politicians." (And more politically precise: "Change for the sake of change benefits no one.") An amendment to the platform limiting tenure to 12 consecutive years or less was not accepted by the D's platform committee.

The R's had a real donnybrook over size and term limits, an issue vacant from the Republican platform but championed by Rep. Sumner Lipman of Augusta. He was successful by persuasion of a majority vote including them in the R-platform. It pitted the smaller districts against the larger ones. Rural Republicans say they would be swallowed whole by bigger districts.

And so it looks like a political impasse for term limits and a smaller Legislature in the coming 116th. Political reform is, as other works of art, in the eye of the beholder.

(Veteran newsman and columnist Mike Brown writes regularly on the Augusta political scene. His views are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of The Citizen.)

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The 13th annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show was held on Saturday, May 30 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Judges for the show were Arla Patch, Sandra Clement, and Joan Baker. The theme this year was "This Old House" and all entries considered were required to relate in some way to the theme.

Prizes included ribbons, certificates of commendation and cash. The show is supported in part by a contribution from the Bethel Savings Bank.

Winners included Division I (grades one and two) First: Mike Swan, Crescent Park, grade two; Second: Chelsea Marshall, Crescent Park, grade two; Third: Christian Morgan, Crescent Park, grade one. Division II (grades three and four) First: Per Sandstrom, Woodstock, grade 4; Second: Caitlin Gallagher, Woodstock, grade three; Third: Forest Fyberg, Andover, grade four. Division III (grades five and six) First: Kate Nickerson, Telstar Middle School, grade six; Second, Adam Williamson, Andover, grade five; Third: Jonathan McLean, Andover, grade five.

Sunday, May 31 was observed to honor Dr. Moses Mason's 203rd birthday. Tours of the museum were held, punch and birthday cake were served and crafts demonstrated. Once again Ernest and Betty Perkins portrayed Dr. and Mrs. Mason. Helen Morton did sketching; Mike Murphy, bird carving; Robin Fraser, stained glass; Mabel Kennett, quilting; Joanne Korhonen and daughter Naomi, spinning; Grace McKivergan, weaving. Guide for the day was Judy Haskell.

Tax assessor

screen." He also refused to confirm or deny that he has kept written records of the town's assessment.

According to Bartlett, over the past three years Dunham has promised a number of times to move the records to the town office, but then failed to comply with any of the deadlines set by the selectmen.

Minutes from the Greenwood selectmen's meetings show that at different times in the past three years Dunham has assured the selectmen he would bring in the records, said that they do not exist, or they are in his attic, or that he was "too busy cutting wood" to bring them in to the town office.

Dunham's term expires July 1. Selectmen have called for a special town meeting on June 30 to ask voters to eliminate the position of tax assessor and authorize selectmen to serve as a board of assessors.

If voters choose to eliminate Dunham's position, Bartlett said, the selectmen have lined up a certified tax assessor to assist them. O'Donnell Associates of Auburn has prepared the town's tax maps for several years and has indicated it would be willing to take over Dunham's responsibilities for an annual fee of $3,000.

Dunham's fee is $7 an hour. Last year the town paid him $1,799.

"We know it'll be a little bit more money," Bartlett said, "but the idea is to get the job done and get the assessor's records in here."

The special town meeting to consider eliminating the tax assessor's position will be held June 30, 7 p.m. at the town hall.

CPS addition

period. It is expected that local taxpayers would first see the increase in fiscal year 1994.

That tax bite is likely to increase in future years, Powell said, as state's share of the project diminishes.

The total cost of the project and its financing is currently estimated at about $8.2 million, with more than half of the money coming from the state.

Some residents at Thursday's meeting said financing was their primary concern, especially in view of the fact that Newry currently foots 25 percent of the district's budget.

In the past, Newry residents have repeatedly complained that the town has little to say about how its contribution to the district is spent.

Newry attempted to withdraw from SAD #44 last year and set up its own school system.

Even though a majority of the town's residents voted to pull out, the withdrawal attempt failed because state law stipulates that two-thirds of the voters must favor withdrawal.

Selectman Jim Sysko chaired last year's committee that organized the attempt. He pointed out last Thursday that if the district approves the CPS expansion, Newry would be stuck footing part of the bill, even if a future withdrawal attempt was successful.

Sysko said he was also worried that the expense of repaying the CPS addition's 20-year bond might cause an outcry to further cut programs and teachers in the district.

"I am worried about the reactions to the additional cost being imposed on the taxpayers in the district in regard to cutting programs," Sysko said. "History shows that art and music are really vulnerable. Newry, with its low percentage of representative on the school board, will not be able stop the cuts by asking for more money."

Joe Aloisio agreed with Sysko. "I feel like I'm speaking against motherhood and apple pie," he said. "It's obvious that this addition is needed—as far as creating a large school in Bethel. However, in the four years that we've been here in this area, my observation is that the commitment to funding education in general is weak in the area. Therefore, what I'm very, very concerned about is that we're going to build a beautiful school and have no staff to put in it. The funds that are put into debt service may be cut from the operational side of the budget."

Superintendent Dewaine Craig said that the latest population study done 18 months ago showed that the CPS student body may swell from the current population of 330 students to as many as 400 in the next few years.

The state has set 1 to 25 as the maximum student/teacher ratio at the elementary level, he said, so the same number of teachers will be necessary with or without the expansion.

The project is scheduled to go to vote on Aug. 25. If it fails to gain district-wide approval, Craig said some additional money will be needed to make the six portable classrooms now at CPS more permanent.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The 13th annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show was held on Saturday, May 30 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Judges for the show were: Patch, Sandra Clement, and Baker. The theme this year was "Old House" and all entries considered were required to relate in the way to the theme.

Prizes included ribbons, certificates of commendation and cash. The show is supported in part by a contribution from the Bethel Lions Bank.

Winners included Division I: First: Mike An, Crescent Park, grade two; Second: Chelsea Marshall, Crescent Park, grade two; Third: Christian Morgan, Crescent Park, grade one; Division II (grades three and four): First: Per Sandstrom, Woodstock, grade 4; Second: Caitlin Gallagher, Woodstock, grade three; Third: Peter Fyrborg, Andover, grade 3; Division III (grades five and six): First: Kate Nickerson, Telstar Middle School, grade six; Second: Sam Williamson, Andover, grade six; Third: Jonathan McLean, Andover, grade five.

On Sunday, May 31 was observed as Dr. Moses Mason's 203rd birthday. Tours of the museum were given, and punch and birthday cake were served and crafts demonstrated.

Again Ernest and Betty Perkins displayed Dr. and Mrs. Mason. Ken Morton did sketching; Mike Murphy, bird carving; Robin Fraser, quilted glass; Mabel Kennett, quilted glass; Joanne Korhonen and daughter, spinning; Grace Kivervang, weaving. Guide for the day was Judy Haskell.

Among the latest contributors to Society's microfilm reader-printer fund raising campaign are: Grover, Bethel; Barbara H. Ankala, Bethel and Don and Arlene Brown, Bethel. These donations have put the campaign over the goal and any additional contributions will be applied to supplies for the equipment. Many thanks to the donors who made the acquisition of this equipment possible.

period. It is expected that local taxpayers would first see the increase in fiscal year 1994.

That tax bite is likely to increase in future years, Powell said, as state's share of the project diminishes.

The total cost of the project and its financing is currently estimated at about $8.2 million, with more than half of the money coming from the state.

Some residents at Thursday's meeting said financing was their primary concern, especially in view of the fact that Newry currently foots 25 percent of the district's budget.

In the past, Newry residents have repeatedly complained that the town has little to say about how its contribution to the district is spent.

Newry attempted to withdraw from SAD #44 last year and set up its own school system.

Even though a majority of the town's residents voted to pull out, the withdrawal attempt failed because state law stipulates that two-thirds of the voters must favor withdrawal.

Selectman Jim Sysko chaired last year's committee that organized the attempt. He pointed out last Thursday that if the district approves the CPS expansion, Newry would be stuck footing part of the bill, even if a future withdrawal attempt was successful.

Sysko said he was also worried that the expense of repaying the CPS addition's 20-year bond might cause an outcry to further cut programs and teachers in the district.

"I am worried about the reactions to the additional cost being imposed on the taxpayers in the district in regard to cutting programs," Sysko said. "History shows that art and music are really vulnerable. Newry, with its low percentage of representation on the school board, will not be able to stop the cuts by asking for more money."

Joe Aloisio agreed with Sysko. "I feel like I'm speaking against motherhood and apple pie," he said. "It's obvious that this addition is needed—as far as creating a large school in Bethel. However, in the four years that we've been here in this area, my observation is that the commitment to funding education in general is weak in the area. Therefore, what I'm very, very concerned about is that we're going to build a beautiful school and have no staff to put in it. The funds that are put into debt service may be cut from the operational side of the budget."

Superintendent Dewaine Craig said that the latest population study done 18 months ago showed that the CPS student body may swell from the current population of 330 students to as many as 400 in the next few years.

The state has set 1 to 25 as the maximum student/teacher ratio at the elementary level, he said, so the same number of teachers will be necessary with or without the expansion.

The project is scheduled to go to vote on Aug. 25. If it fails to gain district-wide approval, Craig said some additional money will be needed to make the six portable classrooms now at CPS more permanent.

CPS Principal David Murphy said he viewed the portables as only a temporary fix to overcrowding at the school.

"There's no question in my mind that this addition is greatly needed," Murphy said. "It would allow the students the flexibility to learn in an environment that is suited for learning. Right now it is not suitable for that. We've enjoyed a very good year—in terms of combining Crescent Park and Ethel Bisbee together. It hasn't been easy, but we've had a lot of community support and cooperation from staff and the PTA. But right now it's a band-aid. It's very obvious for everyone who's involved at Crescent Park that we need more room."

Most of the townspeople at Thursday's meeting said they could see a need for the school addition.

The results of a straw poll at the end of the meeting showed 15 people in favor of the addition, including two of the town's selectmen—Steve and Willard Wight; two opposed and four undecided. Selectman Sysko was one of the undecided.

Another informational meeting was scheduled for Woodstock last night. Bethel residents will have a chance to ask questions about the proposal tonight at Telstar High School at 7 p.m. A final meeting will be held June 18 in the Greenwood town office at 7 p.m.

Newry easement

grantee in the eventuality that the land trust became unable to maintain the terms of the easement.

Polak said the Williamsons' donation was a prime example of how a conservation easement benefits many parties. First, he said, donors are able to retain ownership of their land, which they can sell or bequeath to their heirs with the assurance that it will never be developed. At the same time, the value of the property is reduced in a way that is potentially very beneficial for estate tax purposes. Land trust officers cite occasions when heirs have been forced to sell family lands to pay estate taxes—because the IRS values land at its highest and best use, even if it is in property tax abatement programs like Tree Growth.

Because of the easement, Polak said, current and future residents and visitors have a permanent guarantee of scenic views from the Sunday River Access Road as well as from many trails and chairlifts at the ski resort. Commercial forestry, an important component of the local economy, will be continued and protected, and traditional limited public access will be allowed.

The Mahoosuc Land Trust is a non-profit conservation organization which has received donations of two tree farm conservation easements as well as two Androscoggin River properties maintained to protect their natural habitat and allow limited public use.

CAMPAIGN TOUR—Incumbent U.S. Rep. Olympia Snowe made a campaign swing through Oxford County Saturday, stopping in Bethel for a fund-raising reception at the Hastings House, hosted by Stan Howe. Here, Rep. Snowe is joined by her fellow Republican hopefuls, state Senate candidate Carl Hansen and incumbent state Rep. Al Barth.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

Many thanks to the Bethel Tree and Beautification Committee, and especially Eric Schwarz, for the great job done on the new trees along Main Street. I'm sure we will all enjoy them in the many years to come.

I am pleased to announce that Neal Hall of Rumford Corner has been hired as Code Enforcement Officer. Check with the Town Office to schedule appointments, or to contact Mr. Hall directly.

I would also like to mention that Stacy Benjamin, planning assistant, was inadvertently not listed on the Municipal List in the current Town Report. We apologize for the oversight.

Couture Construction is planning to begin the Lower Street Project by the beginning of July. An informational meeting for the public will be held in the Selectmen's Meeting Room at the Town Office on June 23 at 7 p.m. I encourage everyone who has a question or a concern to attend this meeting. Topics for discussion will include schedules, routing of traffic, signage, and private property owners responsibilities.

every effort to resolve these problems to the satisfaction of all. Couture has been put on notice that Mollycoddett Day is July 18. They are willing to work around that date as will best suit the townspeople.

From the Bethel Police log:

Brawlers, howlers, oinkers, and OUI keep police busy

After several complaints from SAD #44 bus drivers during the school year, Bethel police are warning motorists that it is also illegal to pass a school bus stopped in a school yard with its flashing red lights on.

Police Chief Dale Bellman said the penalties are the same whether motorists pass a bus stopped on the highway or in a school yard. "Passing a school bus with its flashers on carries a minimum fine of $250 for the first offense," Bellman said. "For the second offense the operator of the vehicle or the owner of the vehicle pays another $250 fine and their license will be suspended for 30 days."

Bellman said state laws passed last summer give police the authority to summons the owner of a vehicle that passes a bus even if the driver goes unidentified.

Bethel police made two arrests last week.

Police arrested a West Paris man for OUI early Sunday morning. Ken Pulsifer, 37, of West Paris was stopped on Route 26 south of the village for driving erratically.

After failing a field sobriety test, Pulsifer was arrested and transported to the Oxford County Jail.

Police also arrested Tony L. Bennett, 27, of West Bethel for driving after his license had been suspended.

Bennett was stopped by police for driving 67 in a 50 mph zone. A check of his license revealed it had been suspended. Bennett was arrested and transported to Oxford County Jail.

In other police news last week, police were called to the Sudbury Inn shortly after midnight Friday morning to break up what the bartender described as a small fight in the lounge.

Police interviewed several people in the lounge. No charges were filed by the inn, police or the subjects involved.

On Wednesday police warned a group of juveniles to stay away from the Ethel Bisbee School, because of recent complaints of minor criminal mischief and disorderly conduct at the site.

Last Tuesday at 2 a.m. a Mason Street resident reported hearing a lot of noise coming from the Bethel Park Apartments parking lot, the caller said a fight might be in progress.

Police responded to the complex, but found no one in the lot.

Police were called to the complex again on Friday night to investigate a complaint of 2 to 3 women howling in the parking lot.

Upon investigation, police again found no one in the lot.

During the day Tuesday, a Route 232 resident came in to the police office to assure Chief Bellman he was trying to keep his pigs from waking his neighbor early in the morning.

The man's neighbor has complained to police several times in recent weeks that the pigs are too noisy early in the morning.

The pigs' owner said he would move the pigs feeding time from 5:30 a.m. to later in the day.

He said he was also considering moving the pig pen further away from his neighbor's home.

Police warned the pigs' owner that if the problem is not resolved, he could be summonsed for disorderly conduct.

FARMERS' MARKET WEEK

June 14-20 has been declared Maine Farmer's Market Week by Governor McKernan. Special events will be held at all Farmer's Markets throughout the state.

Events at the Bethel Farmer's Market Saturday, June 20, 8 a.m. to noon, include a hands-on milking demonstration, spinning demonstrations and free samples of delicious Maine products.

Maine Farmers' Markets provide an opportunity for consumers to buy fresh, local produce directly from the farmer.

BETHEL SWIM PROGRAM

The Bethel Recreation Board will offer a swim program at Songo Pond beginning June 29 under the supervision of Beth LaVallee. Registration forms may be picked up at the town office and should be returned prior to June 19.

Classes are open to students age six or starting first grade. Tiny-Tot classes are available to children under six years and must be accompanied by an adult. Classes run from June 29 through July 17.

Registration fees: $5 per child or $10 per family for Bethel residents; $10 per child or $20 per family for out of town residents. Class schedules will be printed in the June 24 issue of The Citizen.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The big news this week was our field day events. The fourth, fifth and sixth grades spent the day at Hebron Academy and were involved in all kinds of activities. The weather was perfect, and a picnic lunch was enjoyed by all before returning to school. Once back at school, kick ball and free time was enjoyed while awaiting the presentation of the blue, red and white ribbons.

Winners in both the 50- and 100-yard dash were: Derek Leonard, first, Audrey Tikander, second, and Jeannine Dembski, third. In the 220-yard run: Derek Leonard, first; Johanna Farrar and William Graiver, second, and James Bradeen, third.

In the 440-yard run: Derek Leonard, first; James Bradeen, second and William Graiver, third. In the 880-yard run: James Bradeen, first; Mark Pawlowski, second and Charlie Buker, third. The relay race among the three classes found the sixth grade in first place with a team of Audrey Tikander, William Graiver, Jeannine Dembski, and Derek Leonard. The fifth graders finished second, with Eric Smith, Johanna Farrar, Justin Bonney and James Bradeen. The fourth graders were right behind, with runners Bryan Martin, Terry Weston, Joel Martino and Jessica Farrar.

Winners in the softball throw were Charlie Buker, first, Edwin Orr, second, and Casey Mack, third. In the frisbee throw, Charlie Buker and Edwin Orr again placed first and second respectively, and Joel Martino came in third. In the running broad jump, Edwin Orr placed first, Johanna Farrar, second and Jeannine Dembski, third. In the standing broad jump, Audrey Tikander, first, Derek Leonard, second and Jeannine Dembski, third.

The sack race and three-legged race were held in class divisions. The winners from the fourth grade in the sack race were: Matthew Blake, first, Melissa Martin, second, and Bryan Martin, third. In the fifth grade, Kristoffer Pearson came in first, Nicholas Theofrastou, second and Eric Smith, third.

Sixth-grade winners were Audrey Tikander, first, Charlie Buker, second and Derek Leonard and Casey Mack, third.

The three-legged race was fun. Fourth-graders Lindsay Newell and Jessica Skinner came in first; Holly Graiver and Melissa Martin, second, and Nathan Hutchins and Jessica Farrar, third. Johanna Farrar and Melissa Skinner placed first for the fifth grade, Kristoffer Pearson and Justin Bonney, second; Lisa Boutlier and Jamie Leonard, third. Winners in the sixth grade were Marc Pawlowski and Henry Bindbeutel, first, Audrey Tikander and Andrea Johnson and Tovah Everett and Jeannine Dembski, second, Shawn Coffin and David Stearns, third.

The annual tug-of-war ended with the sixth grade as champions. To earn the title they had to defeat the fifth grade and the grownups. They did it easily.

The second and third grade enjoyed a field day of their own right at school. They began by dividing into teams and competing in relay races in the gym: spoon and ping pong ball, straw and ping pong ball, balloon pop relay, rooster eat worm relay and the clothes, dress-up relay.

The rooster-eat-worm directions were to race to the end of the gym, eat a candy worm and crow like a rooster! In the clothes relay, the team could help each other don shirts, pants, boots, gloves and hats. Then that child races the course, returns, undresses and everyone starts over!

Outdoor activities included a tug-of-war and a water balloon toss! All teams scored points, no matter what the finished place. However team D came in first.

The children thoroughly enjoyed the day and a good time was truly had by all!

Other school news this week included our final RIF day. Every student was able to choose a free book to keep. Of course they started reading them immediately. The kindergarten and first-graders have been working on Father's Day presents. The second-graders honored their students of the week: Ben Blake, Devin Coffin, Jessica Duplisea, Jason Emery and Krystal Farris. The third-graders built birdhouses. The fourth-graders worked in the cool of the cafeteria on that hot, hot day! The fifth-graders and their parents finished reading their books and met for discussion. The sixth-graders had their Step Up Day at the junior high school.

Continue to save Campbell products labels for us. We will participate again next year in their Labels for Education program.

By the time you read this we will be out of school, but I must have at least one more column to congratulate all the students who receive academic recognition at our annual Awards Day.

MEATLESS COOKING CLASSES CONCLUDE

Eating without meat can be fun! That's what some 16 people who recently attended the cooking/nutritional classes held at Thurlow Hall in South Woodstock discovered.

At each session, lectures on the psychological aspects of nutrition and hands-on demonstrations of the food groups with a large variety of prepared samples demonstrated how to learn a better way of eating with right food combinations so that optimum health could be obtained. Dr. Ron Davis, D.D.S. and Goldie Mason, nurse nutritionist, presented the classes.

The seminar concluded with a banquet for class members and their families. A low sugar, salt, and cholesterol menu was chosen. Door prizes, recipes, weekly menus, and much more information was given to all in attendance.

Another series is planned in the fall for others interested, as well as for those who expressed a desire to return. The classes were sponsored by the Woodstock Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

ANOTHER RESTAURANT PLANNED—The Bethel planning board has given tentative approval to a 100-seat restaurant to be located in the barn of the Richard Grant residence in Mayville. Project organizers, Mayville's Tavern Incorporated, said the restaurant may be open by Sept. 1. The planning board has asked the corporation to provide a statement of financial capability before giving final approval. The corporation must also get a floodplain permit for the proposed parking area, because the lot would fall below the 100-year flood plain level.

More restaurants planned

By WENDY HANS COM

The national economy may still be sluggish, but restaurant developers seem willing to bet on recovery—at least in the vicinity of Sunday River Ski Resort.

The Bethel planning board has recently met with planners of two new 100-seat restaurants. And last week yet another restaurant proposal went before the Newry planning board.

Lee Wilbur, who lives in Germany and owns a condominium in Newry, has applied to the town's planning board for permission to construct a restaurant with a pub, convenience store and rental rooms on the Skiway Road.

Plans call for the "Alpenhaus" restaurant to be built on part of a 10-acre lot near the Sunday River Inn. The property is currently owned by the Peter Kailey Profit Sharing Trust and is under contract to be sold to Wilbur and an associate.

The 6,850-square-foot ground floor of the two-and-a-half story building would house a 48-seat restaurant, 75-seat pub and a 1,200-square-foot convenience store.

Fifteen rental rooms and a lounge are planned for the second floor.

Wilbur said he hopes to begin construction in August and have the complex ready to open by mid-December.

The planning board reviewed Wilbur's application last week and asked him to complete a number of minor details before they consider approval.

Bethel restaurants planned

Back in Bethel, details are still coming in from two other restaurant developers.

Mayville's Tavern Inc. is planning a 100-seat restaurant and bar for the barn of the Richard Grant property in Mayville, which developers say may be open by Sept. 1.

Town planners are waiting for a statement of financial capability and a floodplain permit from the town's CEO.

The Merrill Company of Portland has also come before the board to discuss the possible construction of another 100-seat restaurant, which may include a bar and brewery.

Heinie Merrill told the board last month he was planning to purchase 6 to 12 acres somewhere along the Sunday River Road. Merrill said if the property purchase was completed, he planned to have the new restaurant open before ski season.

Another Bethel restaurant will reopen next week. The former Pleasant River Restaurant in West Bethel will reopen as the Pleasant River Chinese Restaurant under the management of Leong T. Wan, owner of the Ocean Pearl in Oxford and another Oriental restaurant in Portland.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will offer a selection of summer courses starting the week of July 6. A descriptive course guide will be mailed to area residents within the next few days. The course guide also contains a community survey which will be used in planning future programs. Residents are asked to mail the surveys to the Adult Education office or to drop them off at Telstar High School.

Summer courses include machine quilting featuring the log cabin pattern held on Thursday mornings from 9 to noon at the Adult Learning Center at Ethel Bisbee School, CPR set for consecutive Thursdays, August 20 and 27 from 6 to 9 at the Bethel Area Health Center, woodcarving from 6 to 9 on Thursdays at Telstar, typing/keyboarding from 6 to 9 on Thursdays at Telstar, video-production from 7 to 9 on Wednesdays at Telstar, teaching exceptional children in the regular classroom, a recertification requirement for teachers to be held on July 20 through 24 and July 27 through 31 from 8 to noon at Telstar, and motorcycle safety on July 8 and 9, or August 13 and 14, from 5 to 9 at Telstar.

Academic courses will also be in full swing, with morning sessions at the Adult Learning Center at Ethel Bisbee School set for Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 to noon with Nancy Merrow. Adults may work in a self-paced manner on math, English, or GED preparation. Evening classes at Telstar will be held in GED Preparation and writing brush-up on Wednesdays from 6 to 9 with Karen Bean, and in math, algebra I and algebra II with Steve Bies on Thursdays from 6 to 9. Adult Guidance Counselor Merrill Bittner will be available on a limited schedule for assistance with resumes and to provide information regarding educational and vocational programs.

To receive specific information about summer adult education programs, call 824-2780.

STEPHEN SEAMES ELECTED GOVERNOR OF SOCIETY

Stephen Trent Seames of Locke Mills and Portland has been elected Governor of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America State of Maine Society.

The Founders and Patriots of America is a national hereditary Society. Members are descendants of founders of the colonies in America prior to May 1657, who must also have an ancestor with patriotic service during the American Revolution. Seames, a descendant of James Cole, settler of Saco 1631, and Plymouth, Mass. 1632, is also descended from Eleazer Cole, Patriot of the American Revolution who settled in Greenwood, Oxford County in the early part of the 19th century.

In addition to social functions and public charity, the Society promotes the discovery, collection and preservation of records, documents, and manuscripts relating to the first colonists, and their descendants.

Seames is a graduate of Gould Academy and the University of Maine at Farmington, and has done graduate work in library and archives studies at Simmons College, Boston. Seames is reference/research assistant at the Maine Historical Society in Portland.

COMMUNITY YARD SALE PLANNED FOR ANDOVER

Andover Olde Home Day committee will sponsor a first annual community yard sale on Saturday, June 20 with a rain date of June 21. Spaces are available on the town common for a fee of $5 or $10 for Andover residents and $20 for non-residents. There are also a limited number of spaces available with electricity, for an additional charge. Tables may be rented or participants may bring their own.

Many citizens have opted to sell from their homes, and they will be listed on a map with directions to their sales. The fee for this is $5. Proceeds will be used for Olde Home Days expenses. For more information, call Leon Simmons at 392-4461.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will offer a selection of summer courses during the week of July 6. A descriptive course guide will be mailed to area residents within the next few days. The course guide also contains information on planning future programs. Residents are asked to mail the surveys to the Adult Education office to drop them off at Telstar High School.

Summer courses include machine quilting featuring the log cabin pattern held on Thursday mornings from 9 to noon at the Adult Learning Center at Ethel Bisbee School. PR set for consecutive Thursdays, August 20 and 27 from 6 to 9 at the Bethel Area Health Center, woodcarving from 6 to 9 on Thursdays at Telstar, typing/keyboarding from 6 to 9 on Thursdays at Telstar, video production from 7 to 9 on Wednesdays at Telstar, teaching exceptional children in the regular classroom, a certification requirement for teachers to be held on July 20 through 24 and July 27 through 31 from 8 to noon at Telstar, and motorcycle safety on July 8 and 9, or August 13 and 14, from 5 to 9 at Telstar.

Academic courses will also be in full swing, with morning sessions at the Adult Learning Center at Ethel Bisbee School set for Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 to noon with Nancy Merrow. Adults may work in a self-paced manner on math, English, or GED preparation. Evening classes at Telstar will be held in GED Preparation and writing brush-up on Wednesdays from 6 to 9 with Karen Bean, and in math, algebra I and algebra II with Steve Bies on Thursdays from 6 to 9. Adult Guidance Counselor Merrill Bittner will be available on a limited schedule for assistance with resumes and to provide information regarding educational and vocational programs.

To receive specific information about summer adult education programs, call 824-2780.

STEPHEN SEAMES ELECTED GOVERNOR OF SOCIETY

Stephen Trent Seames of Locke Mills and Portland has been elected Governor of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America State of Maine Society.

The Founders and Patriots of America is a national hereditary Society. Members are descendants of founders of the colonies in America prior to May 1657, who must also have an ancestor with patriotic service during the American Revolution. Seames, a descendant of James Cole, settler of Saco 1631, and Plymouth, Mass. 1632, is also descended from Eleazer Cole, Patriot of the American Revolution who settled in Greenwood, Oxford County in the early part of the 19th century.

In addition to social functions and public charity, the Society promotes the discovery, collection and preservation of records, documents, and manuscripts relating to the first colonists, and their descendants.

Seames is a graduate of Gould Academy and the University of Maine at Farmington, and has done graduate work in library and archives studies at Simmons College, Boston. Seames is reference/research assistant at the Maine Historical Society in Portland.

COMMUNITY YARD SALE PLANNED FOR ANDOVER

Andover Olde Home Day committee will sponsor a first annual community yard sale on Saturday, June 20 with a rain date of June 21. Spaces are available on the town common for a fee of $5 or $10 for Andover residents and $20 for non-residents. There are also a limited number of spaces available with electricity, for an additional charge. Tables may be rented or participants may bring their own.

Many citizens have opted to sell from their homes, and they will be listed on a map with directions to their sales. The fee for this is $5.

Proceeds will be used for Olde Home Days expenses. For more information, call Leon Simmons at 392-4461.

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

Royce Grant and Anita Everett called on his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grant on Sunday. Paul Files from Norway called on his sister, Brenda Files on Sunday.

Doreen and Jim Shugars and family are at home after being away to Virginia for a few days. After they got home, they discovered that little Heidi has the chicken pox.

Chris Littlefield is working at the East Stoneham Country Store.

Four building permits were issued to residents by the Stoneham Planning Board on Wednesday night at their meeting.

On Tuesday, Phyllis Millett and Eleanor Nelson served as ballot clerks at the voting booth at the Stoneham Fire Station. The flow of people was slow—as predicted. Ralph and Harriett Brown treated us again to pizza for lunch, which was thoughtful of them. The office closed at 8 p.m. and it didn't take too long to count the ballots.

You are probably tired of hearing about moose stories but a couple of our neighbors had a bit of adventure one morning while out for their morning walk. Pat Buck and Joan Grover got out for a morning walk at about 6:20, each one leaving their house and meeting half way to continue the walk. On this morning they were almost together below the Stoneham Post Office when all of a sudden a large moose came out of the woods right between them. I'm telling you those girls reversed their direction real quick and the moose quickened his pace, too. Luckily, Pat's husband came along in the truck and gave her a ride. The girls still walk and laugh about the incident but they walk together now, not separately.

Barry Andrews from North Waterford has been working for Albert Nelson this past week sawing wood.

Minnehaha Temple #53 met Friday for their annual inspection with deputy, Marion Rolfe, Jr. of Gouldsboro in charge. A supper was served and the meeting followed. Attending as guests were Methyl Hutchins, grand chief of Maine and husband of Strong. P.G. chiefs, Evelyn Bean of Bryant Pond, Grace Home of Mexico, grand vice chancellor, Wesley Rolfe of Gouldsboro and Hildred Safford of Oxford.

Attending the Western Maine Pythian Jubilee at Thomaston were P.G.C.'s Phyllis Millett and Violet Doughty, G. Man. Arlene Merrill, G.P. Dorothy McGray and Joyce Sweet.

Juanita Past Chiefs Club met with Dorothy McGray for a noontime cookout and meeting. Reported that Dorothy Canwell had fallen and broken her shoulder. A sunshine box was presented to Lucy Brown.

SUMMER CONSERVATION CAMP—The Maine Conservation School is hosting 40 migrant students for two weeks of learning about Maine's natural resources. Most of the students are from Portland and many of them are Cambodians. Here several of the students participate in a group trust building activity. The school was awarded a $6,000 grant from Scott Paper Company to provide a summer camp experience for the migrant students. The group of 10- to 14-year-olds will reside at the camp and share chores. Organizers hope that the program will give the students a greater appreciation for the importance of their parents' work to the Maine economy.

MUNDT-ALLEN POTLUCK

A potluck supper will precede the Mundt-Allen Post and Unit meeting June 23 at 6:30, at the post home.

PARIS HILL FOUNDERS DAY

On July 18 (raindate July 19), the 14th annual Founders Day will be held on the Paris Hill green in Paris from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Highlights will include a classic and antique automobile exhibit, craft and antique fair, tours of the old Oxford County Jail (now the Hamlin Memorial Library), plus entertainment and refreshments.

Admission is $5 for adults and $2 for children under 12. Call 743-2980 or 743-0513 for more information.

Elderwood Manor

By FLORENCE HALL

Louis Hall, Roxbury, and Aunt Florence rode to South Arm on Tuesday. On the way they went to see the Devil's Den, a deep rock formation that a brook comes thundering through.

Another rock formation, on the side of a mountain called The Devils Oven was an interesting sight.

Bus riders from the Manor to Rumford on Wednesday were Gertrude Hutchins and Elizabeth Sennett.

Florence Hall called on Arvilla Feener on Tuesday.

Louise Powell, Hale, and a little girl visited Alma Hewey on Thursday.

Thought of the day: Sign in Beauty Shop: "You can't keep from aging but you can die in the attempt."

Bryant Pond

By ALICE HOYT

Curator Larry Billings has given the historical museum pictures of a Civil War veteran and a sleigh made in the old carriage shop. At the opening of the historical museum

Larry Billings and Ruth Cox greeted guests. Ruth also rearranged one of the bulletin boards. Herschel Abbott came in and donated his old armed services uniform. Mansfield Packard visited and checked out the old phones. Francis Brooks donated a pair of snowshoes. About 10 people in all attended to make it a good start to the summer season. Later in the evening some of the W.H.S. alumni visited. Ken Hoyt opened the museum and Olive Risko, Earle and Louisa Noyes helped out. Olive gave a notebook of alumni pictures in behalf of the library. With all these visitors and Society members, the museum was put to good use on opening day. Robert Billings and Francis Brooks are building more shelves for additional display upstairs.

Judith Grover tent #17 D.U.V. held their regular meeting on Monday, June 8 with 17 members present. Michele Cary filled in as guide. Next meeting is July 13 with Alice Hoyt and Beatrice Farnum on the refreshment committee. Plans were made for the convention which will be held in Waterville on June 25 and 26. Alice Wardwell thanked the tent for cards, etc. while ill. Crystal Chase thanked the tent for her graduation gift. Reports were given on cemeteries that need fixing and the sale that was held in May. All money due the department has been sent. Fifty-one calls were reported.

A total of 111 attended the W.H.S. Alumni Banquet at Telstar on Saturday, June 6. A delicious meal was served. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chase, Keith and Daniel Stevens visited.

their grandmother, Beatrice Farnum, one day last week.

Joseph and Maggie Hoyt visited their father, James Hoyt and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt for the week.

Several from town attended the graduation at Telstar on Friday evening. It was very nice.

Ruth Tyler has received word of the death of Barbara Tyler, wife of Warren Tyler from Manchester, N.H. former resident of town.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Jackie Fedchenko of New Hampshire spent a few days visiting her mother, Margaret Mitchell on Backstreet.

Walter Stanczyk and Arline Bernier served as ballot clerks for the primaries. Bill Wood brought a beautiful bouquet of orchids from his greenhouse. Seventeen voters cast ballots.

Mae and Babe Goodrum are holding a continuing yard sale to settle the estate of Rosemary Goodrum.

The Arons are preparing to move a building from the James River complex onto their home lot for a craft shop.

The Ladies Aid met at the building for the first time in several years. Pleased comments were made on the condition of the building as it had been cleaned and spruced up by available members.

A money jar was filled which will be for a lottery to guess the amount contained. The Annual Fair date was set for Saturday, Sept. 5 with the following committees: supper, Arline Bernier; tables for rent, Tammy Grondin; cleaning fore and aft, Simmonne Lavallee and Margaret Mitchell; raffle, Lucille Larges; Ladies' Aid fancy work, and baked goods table, Terry Beauchesne. Several ladies brought in material to work on, including a quilt top. Work meetings will be held Monday evenings at 6 p.m. One does not need to be a member to help out there. The next meeting will be Wednesday, July 1 at 1 p.m.

Marie Bartlett of the Marketing Directory for Oxford County Recycling met with the selectmen June 4. She explained procedure, costs and problems and answered questions. The selectmen voted to become the 14th town in the program and are calling for a special town meeting to have the voters acceptance or denial. Disposal of solid wastes was discussed. On other business, the chairman announced that Violette Bernier declined the job as ballot clerk and Walt Stanczyk was hired. She also stated that the James River grader was in town and would be doing some work on the roads.

The next meeting is scheduled for June 11 and the special Town Meeting for June 23. No bids had been received for the town truck and other means of advertising were discussed.

North Paris

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

Saturday, June 6 Marietta Penley and I went to Bethel Health Center, then I went to the flea market and food sale of the North Woodstock Community Club at the chapel. A lot of delicious food. They did real well even if we had pouring rain. That evening I got Mary Smith and Ellen Burns Coffin of Norway and Ruby Coffin and we went to the Woodstock alumni banquet at Telstar. A good crowd and a delicious smorgasbord. The oldest class member was Mansfield Packard, class of 1920. Then Mary and I went to the dance at West Paris Grange Hall.

Sunday, June 7 Mark Thayer brought Jason for the day. We visited Barbara Felt. Jason then visited his great-grandparents, James and Ruby Coffin. I took him home.

Monday, June 8 there was a meeting of the Community Club. July 25 we have a strawberry short cake supper with beans, salads, casseroles, biscuits and rolls. Going to miss Fred Judkins, he is in Florida.

Saturday, June 6 Joe and Madge Vatcher arrived back home from Nova Scotia.

Howard Anderson has been home for several days. He's mowed my lawn and stacked wood in my shed. Such beautiful weather.

Mr. and Mrs. George Oja from Lake Bass, California are visiting his brother, Fred Oja and wife. It was his 50th class reunion from West Paris High School. Other visitors have been Julie Oja, N.Y., Gail Oja from Massachusetts, Jackie, Jeffrey and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Oja and family and probably a lot more.

Sharon Silver mowed the grass at the Community Hall. It really needed it. She did a very good job.

Thursday, June 11 Mary Smith, Dora Dingley and I went to the Oxford County Senior Citizens meeting and delicious potluck dinner. A good crowd. We were entertained by the Black Mountain Band.

Callers have been Mione Record, Herman and Thelma Card, Joe Vatcher and Ian Ilsey, Richard Felt, Sharon Silver, Mark Thayer and Jason. Sorry I wasn't home when Jeanne Millett and Jason came. Come again.

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

The Newry Community Church services were performed Sunday, June 7 by Pastor Rodney Hanscom and his daughter, Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was: "Saved by the Spirit" from St. John 14:26.

Sue Wight came in the church on crutches, and said she had a broken leg in more than one place. Her doctor is taking care of the state of things. She sure needs comforting... We wish her the best.

Nine members of the Newry

Mothers' Club enjoyed their annual banquet at The Town and Country Inn on June 8, attending were Nancy Wight, Louise Tetley, Karlene Bachelder, Mary Morin, Shirley Keith, Chris Morton, Gil Seeley, Helen Morton and Eleanor Davis, and two guests: Polly Mahoney and little baby Garrett Morton, Chris's son. There will be no meetings during July and August; the next one will be Sept. 14 with a tasting party and election of officers.

The members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" who were at the Oxford Lanes were Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, and Olive Anderson. Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. Karlene and Gil tied for the triples and Betsy was high on the singles.

The Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club will meet Saturday the 20th for their annual supper meeting at the Log Haven Inc. Restaurant at 6 p.m.

Julia Goodwin of Unity is spending some time in North Newry with her daughter and son-in-law, Karlene and Reginald Bachelder. Betsy Clark and I went with Karlene to bring her here. While in Unity, we visited with the twins, Wilma and Hilma, her sisters.

Quite a few North Newry people went to the Helen Berry Auditorium Thursday afternoon matinee of the presentation of "Mary Poppins". It was funny, amusing, entertaining, comical, boisterously amusing, and a great program... Thank you production committees, for giving us such a good time.

High Street

By RUSSELL YATES

Howdy Folks. It's time I got busy on the news again so here goes. Last Monday Morning I woke up to a nice soaking rain and it rained well into the afternoon. It surely was a welcome sight as it was getting very dry here.

At night time, we went to Franklin Grange meeting. It was election of officers and all went smoothly. Ann Swan was voted in to take Viva's place as Lecturer, since Viva isn't able to do it. Carl Brooks was voted in to take a part as a member of the Executive Committee and Larry Risco was voted in as Gatekeeper, replacing Carl in that office. The rest of the officers just continued to take the offices that they held before. Viva was released from Maine Medical Center today, the first day of June, and was moved to her daughter's home in Auburn for the time being. It was quite a surprise. Wynona went to the Maine Medical to visit and was told right then that her mother could go home. Viva will be there for quite a while I expect as she will be getting radiation at the Central Maine Medical Center, but will have to go back to Maine Medical for three or four days each month to have the chemo therapy. Viva's address at her daughters is as follows. Viva Whitman, c/o Michael Woolf, 2047 Hotel Road, Auburn, Maine 04210.

Tuesday morning was quite nice and Laura came quite early to pick up some things that Viva needed. Then she went to Auburn to stay with Viva while her daughter worked.

In the evening, Sister Peggy, Bertha Benoit and myself went to a Pomona Grange meeting at Frederick Robie Grange in Otisfield. This was the night for their memorial program and Lucy Ridley, Chaplain of Pomona was in charge of the program. Peggy and I were asked to sing "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer". Nobody left the room, while we were singing, surprise, surprise.

Wednesday, June 3rd, was a real nice day. I worked outside in one of the small gardens, transplanting two kinds of kale and planting some other seeds for greens besides. Peggy left in quite good season for Auburn to stay with Viva, for several hours. I also had a telephone call from one of my high school classmates, Richard Vittum, on Wednesday telling me that he wouldn't be with us for the alumni banquet Saturday or the class reunion on Sunday as he was going on a fishing trip, the result of a previous engagement.

On Thursday Peggy and I went to Franklin Grange Hall in Bryant Pond to help serve dinner to the Senior Citizens. We had a real good turnout that day but had plenty of food. I poured coffee, like I usually do. Then I helped clean up after the dinner.

Peggy had company Thursday night. Samantha Merrill and her boyfriend were over to make decisions about their wedding cake, which Peggy had said she'd make for them. They now plan to be married in October.

Friday, the fifth of June, was a cloudy day but no rain here. Peg went to do her work at Laverdiere's.

Cousin, Barbara Honkala from Bethel called on me Friday afternoon for a short visit. She was on her way to South Paris and Norway to do some errands so called to check on Viva.

Saturday morning it was raining and it continued well into the afternoon. A lot of water fell and the gardens should be in good shape as far as the watering is concerned. Hope it didn't wash out any of the seed. Peggy and I went to Auburn to be with Viva for awhile so her daughter could do other things that she needed to do.

We came home quite early in the afternoon, and did it ever rain part of the way home. Later we attended the Woodstock Alumni Banquet and meeting at Telstar High School. I was rather disappointed because only four members of my graduating class showed up. We didn't have as large a crowd this year as we did last year. West Paris was having their alumni banquet at the same time and I expect that made a difference in our crowd.

Today, Sunday June 7th, we woke up to a cloudy, foggy morning. I started to prepare the ingredients for a casserole to take to my class reunion. I was getting along fine, but Peggy came down and helped me get it ready to bake. I certainly appreciated her help as it's been a long time since I cooked for a living and it's hard to get back into the know how. I was cooking at Cozy Inn Nursing Home in Rumford, when I had to have my first heart surgery and Viva had been my cook and housekeeper for the last ten years so you might say that I'm out of practice.

We had our class reunion at Stephen Chase's again this year and it was so wet after yesterday's rain, we gathered inside. I was the first one there, but others soon came. There was seven of our class members that showed up and with spouses, we had a total of twelve people. Each party brought something for a lunch and we had a very good feed. Steve and his wife are very gracious hosts and we enjoyed our time there very much. Next year we are invited to meet at the home of Ardella and Gerald Gallant in the town of Mexico. I'm already looking forward to meeting there.

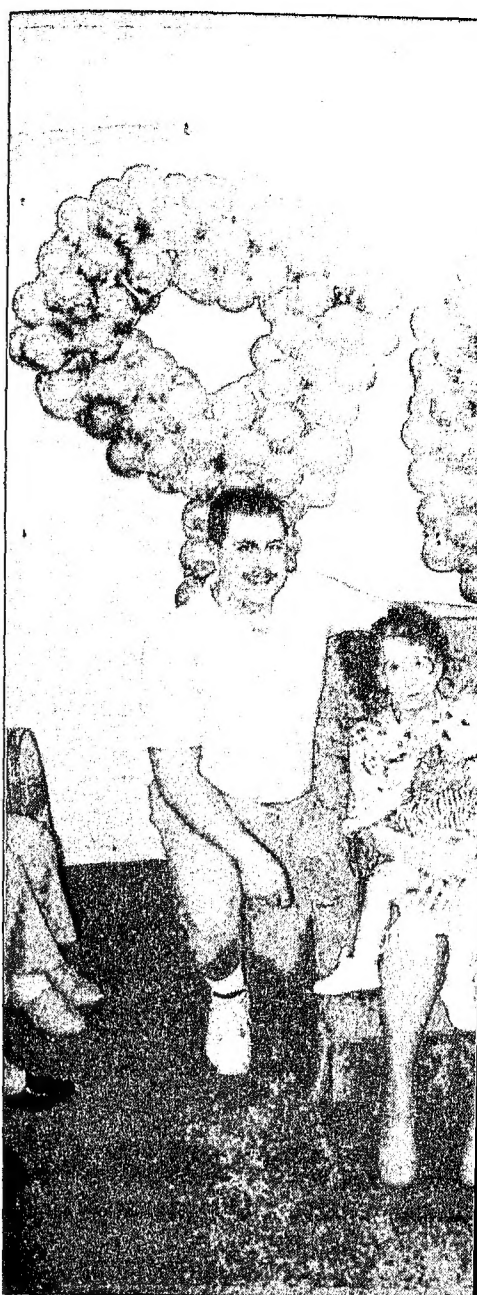

Sisters Peggy and Laura went with Pauline Kennison to the graduation exercises at Rumford High School this afternoon. Brother Tom's grandson, Jason Yates was a member of the graduating class.

Jason knows what he is going to be doing. He has already signed up to go into the Marines in September, when he will have his 18th Birthday. He has signed up for a period of eight years. I sure hope he will like it as they will help him get the education that he wants.

Ellie Connell visited Mary Lovejoy one day this week. The dance committee of West Paris Grange, wish to express their condolences to the family of Harold Raymond, who's life ended on Saturday night.

We are sorry that Kathleen Holden and Elizabeth Bragg are still in the Hospital.

Jacob Immonen is in the Hospital.

HAPPY NINETIETH—Bea Grover celebrates with a party at the Sudbury Village. Jo daughter Carla Durgin, grandson M granddaughter Katherine Durgin.

TB: On the Increase in the United States

According to officials at the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), tuberculosis (TB) is making a comeback in certain areas of the United States. In a recent issue of American Medical News, the CDC's director of the division of TB elimination reports that the nationwide increase in reported cases of TB has been about 17 percent in the last three years. The number of cases reported during the past six years has increased significantly in the following states: New York, 79%; California, 51%; Texas, 34%; Florida, 19%.

TB is an infection that results from bacteria, called Mycobacterium tuberculosis, that are breathed into the lungs from an infected person, such as through coughing or sneezing. This condition can be especially contagious for persons living in crowded areas. Persons who may be susceptible to TB include those who are poorly nourished, the very young, older persons, and persons in the health professions. Those who have been in close contact with a person who has TB should go to physicians or clinics to be skin tested for the disease. Early signs of TB include fever, fatigue, loss of appetite, and weight loss. Treatment includes one or more of the anti-tubercular medicines. Commonly used TB medicines include streptomycin, para-aminosalicylic acid, isoniazid, and rifampin.

with Viva for awhile so her sister could do other things that needed to do.

came home quite early in the noon, and did it ever rain part the way home. Later we attended Woodstock Alumni Banquet and dining at Telstar High School. I rather disappointed because four members of my graduating showed up. We didn't have as a crowd this year as we did year. West Paris was having alumni banquet at the same and I expect that made a difference in our crowd.

day, Sunday June 7th, we woke to a cloudy, foggy morning. I had to prepare the ingredients for asserole to take to my class. I was getting along fine, Peggy came down and helped get it ready to bake. I certainly appreciated her help as it's been a time since I cooked for a living it's hard to get back into the how. I was cooking at Cozy Nursing Home in Rumford, and I had to have my first heart surgery and Viva had been my cook housekeeper for the last ten years so you might say that I'm out of practice.

We had our class reunion at when Chase's again this year and as so wet after yesterday's rain, gathered inside. I was the first there, but others soon came. There was seven of our class members that showed up and with us, we had a total of twelve people. Each party brought something for a lunch and we had a very good feed. Steve and his wife are very gracious hosts and we enjoyed time there very much. Next year we are invited to meet at the home of Ardella and Gerald Gallant in the town of Mexico. I'm already looking forward to meeting there.

My sisters Peggy and Laura went with Elaine Kennison to the graduation exercises at Rumford High School's afternoon. Brother Tom's son, Jason Yates was a member of the graduating class.

Jason knows what he is going to do. He has already signed up to go into the Marines in September, when he will have his 18th birthday. He has signed up for a period of eight years. I sure hope he will like as they will help him get the education that he wants.

Ellie Connell visited Mary and I on Monday one day this week. The executive committee of West Paris has signed up for a period of three years, wish to express their condolences to the family of Harold Raymond, who's life ended on Saturday night.

We are sorry that Kathleen Holden and Elizabeth Bragg are still in the hospital.

Mr. Jacob Immonen is in the Hospital.

Our sympathy to the families and friends of Kate Adams who passed away early this week at the home of her daughter in Texas. She would have been 94 recently.

Last Sunday Norma and I with Ethel from Otisfield attended visiting hours for the family of Aubrey Graves of Naples at the Raymond Funeral Home in Bridgton. Interment was at Mt. Pleasant Cemetery in East Fryeburg Monday morning.

Mrs. Millie Wentzell with daughter and husband, Mary and Bob Eichel have arrived at the summer home, here.

Mrs. Ethel Herr is here also and expecting her son, Jay and family for the weekend. Other relatives will follow.

Phyllis and Bill Bancroft attended the dance recital featuring Mary Poppins at Telstar Auditorium Thursday.

Our temperatures still go down into low forties at night—not too conducive for gardening.

Life is a flower of which love is the honey.

Bob and Kathy Bessette, Emily, Marc and Timothy of Fairfax, Vermont spent the weekend with her folks, Vance and Connie Bacon.

Eleanor Hutchinson of Appleton was at the home of her mother, Louvie Coffin and they both attended the West Paris alumni banquet. Carleton Berry of Fairport, New York visited with Louvie for the weekend.

The West Paris annual alumni banquet was held last Saturday evening with 163 members in attendance. The 1942, 1972 and 1992 class members were honored. There were 11 from the 50 year class and three of the 1992 class present. The West Paris Alumni Association Scholarships were awarded to Maylene Cummings, Melissa McInnis, Kelly and Kyra McLaughlin. On Sept. 17 at 7 p.m. there will be an organizational meeting to make plans for next year's activities. The place of the meeting will be announced later.

The Universalist Church Board meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 17 at 7 p.m. at the church.

There will be a Rummage and Food Sale on Saturday, June 20 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Goodwill Hall of the Universalist Church. If anyone has donations, they may bring them in on Friday morning after 9 a.m.

her husband have recently moved from Grand Lake Stream downstate to this area.

John and Lorraine Mills and Crystal Lake and Brent, attended a barbecue at Rev. and Mrs. Rob Rainville's at Rumford Center Wednesday evening. Also attending were Al Larsen, Tim and Jean Cormier, Debbie Brown, Roger and Dot Chopping, Lisa Chase and Brenda, Pat and Jennie Walter, Derek and Evan, Sue Chao, Debbie Hertell and Kirstie Hertell-Arsenault, Cleon and Carolyn Merrill, Nettie Fitzpatrick, and Jim Clark, plus the Rainville's children, Amanda, Emily, Andrea and Ryan. A time of praise and worship followed the meal.

Charlotte Cole got a surprise visit from her niece Valerie Cole, Revere, Mass. on Thursday. Sunday Charlotte attended a 25th wedding anniversary for Reggie and Linda Westleigh at West Bethel.

Evelyn Weisner is back home after spending some time at Paris Hill.

Dorothy (Dot) Canwell has broken her shoulder. Vera Cross visited her at the hospital but she expects to be home in Oxford shortly.

Charlotte Cole visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burris in Bethel Sunday and played harmonica and guitar for them and left them one of her famous goodies.

John Mills' brother, Donald, has returned to his home in North Norway to convalesce from the heart attack he had a couple weeks ago.

Charlotte Cole, Evelyn Weisner and Helen Chase visited Ledgeview Friday afternoon and Charlotte played for patients there while Evelyn visited Art Weisner.

The Greenwood Fire Department held an all-day training session Sunday, June 6 at the fire station. It was a very informative meeting and a lunch was served at noon by the Fire Department Auxiliary.

John and Lorraine Mills went to Sebago Lake Monday afternoon to pick up his sister, Mary, and take her to her doctor in Portland.

Vera Cross went with Ken and Nellie Swan to Denmark to attend a 50th wedding anniversary open house for Rev. Charles and Millie Pendleton Thursday. They also visited Ken and Nellie's daughter, Linda at her new apartment. She and

Since the rains came to freshen the earth, we have had a number of gorgeous days. Some have been white and shining with a bit of morning mist to soften all outlines. The pond danced and sparkled. The new leaves on every tree shone under the sun. I especially was fascinated with the birches on the pond's edge. From my window they looked as if they had white blossoms among their leaves. The picture was so real that I almost went for a closer view. These have been days that poet Lowell had in mind when he wrote, "What is so rare as a day in June?"

The most jubilant exultation of bird songs has come since the heavy rain. The earth was drenched and because it was so dry it became soggy, dripping, absorbing, cleaned and laved.

Suddenly the woods burst with music, resounding with jubilation. I heard the trilling, la-la-ing of the wood thrush high among the trees. It was unendingly pervading; trills and ripples of ecstatic delight. Now in a soprano treble, now in an alto trible, trill, essence of joy, spilling in cascades, splashing all directions.

Squirrels were racing up and down the tree at the end of the house, calling "wah-wah" fidgeting for me to put out some seeds for them then hurry inside so they could eat.

Surely the trees were clapping their hands and the hills were singing.

I hated to start my lawn mower to end the music, but I had work to do. So I mowed, clipped and weeded. The hours of day passed and I went inside for a time.

Softly the dusk settled down. Slender fingers of a slowly disappearing sun were coming to grasp the covers of night and tucked them down around the sleeping earth.

All of the little creatures would be hushed in peacefulness.

Shifting shadows on the pond darkened and lightened with the moods of the sun; now resting against the pale cushion of the sky. What a lovely day it had been in our state of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. John Betts were in North Conway to attend the graduation of their grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lowe of Oxford called to see me on June 10. He was a pupil of mine many years ago. I was happy to see him again.

Sunday visitors at the farm were Ann, Robert, David and Mary Holt. Robert took his mother to Boston on Monday to see her eye doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curtis have returned home after attending the graduation of their niece, Lisa Curtis in Ohio. She was one of the top-ten in her class and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Curtis. Several of the others who went have not yet returned.

Zilpha DiArenzo attended her class reunion at West Paris on Saturday, June 6.

As I write this, I can hear the tattoo of rain on the leaves by my window. Now and then there is the sound of two limbs, as they rub together in the hiss of the wind. But that is not listening to the plants of the now, green world, as they grow.

There are mechanisms of dramatic events. Bright colors, fragrances, marvelous designs and outward expressions of never ending activities.

Listen again—not with your ears this time but with imagination. Can't you hear the wrenching of bark, as it is forming its patterns? Do you hear the pollen grain through the air or the report of a seed bursting? Listen for the tinkle of sap in the tubes of a tree trunk; the whisper of air and water being converted by chlorophyll; the muffled sounds in roots expanding with dynamite-power. You are now acquainted with the landscape, a vast system constantly in action. The rains have brought this life...

In the pond the wild Mallard floats on the water with seven tiny babies so close behind her that it looks as if they were in a harness, one behind the other fastened to the mother pulling them along suspended in thin air.

Birds like lively little pieces of the sky move about and the Kingfisher goes flying up the pond.

That was one of my mornings this week. Another morning I left to help my cousin at her farm home, where she lived as a child. It is located on a hill and where I looked for familiar landmarks of long ago.

The sunlight streamed through the notches and crept down the slopes, where a herd of Holstein 'cows' graze. What a picture they were.

The shoulder of a mountain ended in a perpendicular rock face, seamed and cracked by time and weather.

At one point along the road a familiar rounded rock thrust out like a headland smooth and eroded into a wrinkled pattern of gray.

Arriving at the house brought memories of days, when I was young and visited my aunt there. Many of the things were the same; the long table, the pantry, the kitchen wood stove with the water tank and the living room cozy and comfortable. The old wall telephone with the crank in its place and even members of the family pictures hanging on the wall.

I had a busy but delightful day with my cousins.

On my way back home I looked through tree branches to ridge after ridge falling away in the blue haze of distance. Once more I was back on the shore of "my" pond and home with my heart adrift in memories for there is no going back. The road is closed. I can never find the child I used to be.

A THRUSH IN THE HAND—Jim Parker of Aerie East prepares to band a thrush he caught in a mist net. Parker spent a week recently at the Crescent Park School teaching the students about local birds. He set up 18 mist nets around the school and caught several varieties of birds. He then bagged the birds, which were all uninjured, and banded them. The students did not handle the birds, but watched Parker demonstrate the banding process.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Welcome to our newest member, John Shorb, organizational consultant, of Bethel.

The Bethel area business community would like to welcome the NTL organization back to Bethel for their 43rd summer. The chamber is still looking for volunteers to sit at the NTL welcome table on Mondays throughout the summer. This is a 1-3:30 p.m. commitment and gives you the opportunity to meet some of the NTL staff and participants. Many thanks to Melinda Remington, Janet Willie, Tom McGinniss, Lisa D'Onofrio and Gloria Lewis for volunteering so far.

We are also actively looking for volunteers to help on Mollycoddett Day, either with the road race or in the lobster roll booth. Please call the chamber office if you can spare a couple hours. We need you. Many thanks to Tim Kavanaugh who is developing a new design for the Mollycoddett T-shirts. They will be available for sale on the common as well as being given to the first 150 road race registrants.

We are wrapping up last minute details on the Bethel Art Fair. It is scheduled for Saturday, June 27, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the Bethel Common. The raindate is Sunday, June 28. More than 35 artists have registered to show and sell their framed paintings and photographs.

The innkeepers will get together Thursday, June 18, at Mother's Restaurant for a noon lunch and discussion about the future of BARS. Immediately afterward, there will be a Big E meeting at the Pine Sider Lodge in Bryant Pond to continue with the planning of this great September event.

Anyone interested in having any input on the "Welcome to Bethel" sign project is encouraged to attend a meeting on Tuesday, June 23, at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday House on Main Street.

JAMIE BLAKE PROMOTED

Marine Cpl. Jamie M. Blake, son of Robert L. and Cynthia J. Blake of Route 1, Bethel, was recently promoted to his present rank while serving at Marine Corps Logistics Base, Albany, Ga.

The graduate of Telstar Regional High School joined the Marine Corps in June 1990. His wife, Andrea, is the daughter of Allan R. and Diane L. Howe, also of Bethel.

Task Force notes:

Nancy Davis was facilitator for the Bethel Area Task Force meeting Sunday evening at Bingham House.

Welcoming NTL on its arrival for the summer sessions was the first topic on the agenda. Gwyneth Bohr, co-facilitator of the Task Force, and an NTL member, noted that the session starting Monday is for NTL members. Other sessions will start on successive Mondays through the summer. Sunrise Seminars are expected to begin Wednesday of this week, and the schedule may be found at the NTL Conference Center.

Task Force members have volunteered to have a representative present at each Monday afternoon opening session to give a brief welcoming about the Bethel area.

On Thursday, June 18, from 5:30 to 7 p.m., the Task Force will host a reception for NTL at the home of Kenneth and Gwyneth Bohr on Chapman Street.

Other Task Force community action groups gave reports Sunday evening. Articles in the Task Force space in The Citizen will have more about the projects of these action group in the coming weeks.

The next Task Force meeting will be held at Bingham House, Sunday evening, July 5, at 7 p.m.

Rotary Club notes

The Crescent Park P.T.A. co-presidents, Cindy Kane Olson and Pattie Parsons were the guest speakers at the Tuesday, June 9, Bethel Rotary Club meeting. They, as well as Rotary president and Crescent Park principal, Dave Murphy, each added to the presentation on the proposed addition to the Crescent Park School, which will come before the voters of the SAD #44 district later this summer.

Cindy showed the video which was made specifically to show the physical shortness of space and facilities at Crescent Park. Pattie introduced David who showed the architect's drawing of the proposed addition, as well as explained why the addition is so badly needed. Pattie went over some of the details pertaining to the financial situation and how the project will affect taxation. This was a great presentation. The Bethel Rotary Club urges all residents of the SAD #44 area to learn all the facts before voting on it later this summer.

Bob Saunders gave Rotary information and reflected on history and how we should remember it.

Guests for the morning were Rene McGrew and Terry Ellismore of Bethel; Fred Collins of Oxford Hills; and Bill Lowther, summer regular.

BETHEL SENIORS MEET

Bethel Senior Citizens met June 10 at Follette's Restaurant in Norway with 59 present.

President Helen Saunders conducted the meeting. Reports were read and accepted. At present there are 91 members, 17 over 80 and one over 90, reported Sarah Stevens, treasurer.

Muriel Faudi of the sunshine committee reported eight sympathy cards and eight birthday cards sent.

Lindley Wieden spoke on several important matters. He reminded people of the importance of attending local meetings and voting. Just a few votes may swing an important issue. Living wills and durable power of attorney is another important consideration. Making your own decisions. Also the Loan Closet of the Health Center is available free for aids like canes, crutches and other equipment.

A Hero Unit, a possible lifesaver for someone staying alone and in need of assistance, is now available.

The upcoming bus trip to the Castle-in-the-Clouds was discussed. The departure will be on June 24 at 8:30 a.m. from the Health Center and return about 4 p.m. Lunch at Hart's Turkey Farm and a stop at the Annalee Doll Museum. As of now the bus is full.

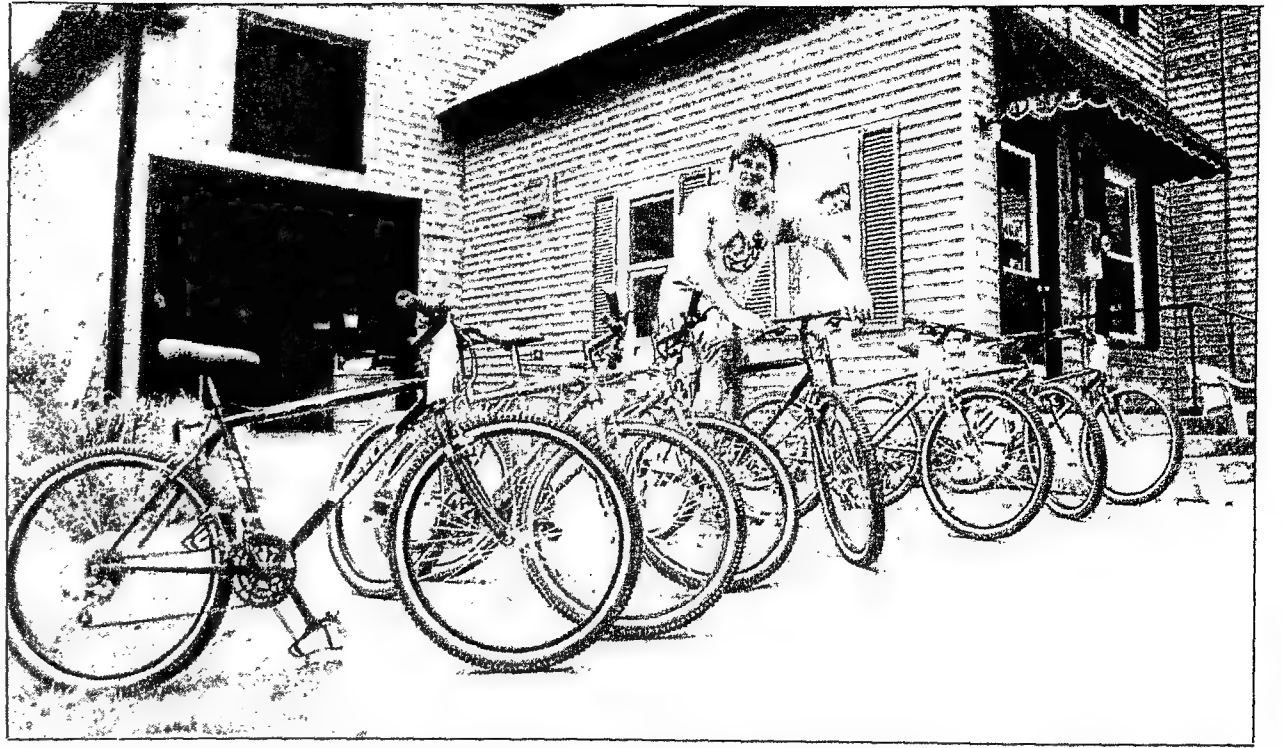

Wieden introduced Jan Stowell, representative of the Androscoggin Home Health Services, who gave an informative talk on recent new help from the A.H.H.S. New Services and Hospice program were of special interest.

Wieden then introduced Dave Preble, well-known Bethel and South Paris pharmacist who spoke on medications and drugs. Problems, interactions, generic, over-the-counter, prescription and the new Brown Bag Program for evaluation and safety check.

Both presentations were much appreciated.

Rudy and Joan Royer continue to work on fund raising. Eva Schools won a decorated hat.

Ronald Stevens offered the blessing and the next meeting will be at the Country Way on July 8.

TRY THE TRAIL LESS TRAVELED--Rick Boucher of Mahosuc Mountain Sports is now renting mountain bikes from the lower Main Street building housing Skidder's Deli and the Wood & Glass Gallery. Boucher also offers mountain bike sales and service. His shop is open Tuesday to Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Habitat makes home come true

By MARK SHANAHAN

Ten years after they purchased a picturesque 20-acre parcel of land in the rolling hills of West Paris, Tom and Elizabeth Gallagher celebrated the completion Sunday of their 26-by-44-foot, three-bedroom home.

"This is a dream home, a witness of love," Elizabeth Gallagher said Sunday.

Denied financing by area banks and without money enough to undertake the project themselves, the Gallaghers turned to Habitat For Humanity, a non-profit organization dedicated to providing affordable housing for those in need.

The Androscoggin Habitat for Humanity, one of seven chapters statewide, assisted the Gallaghers by securing building materials and soliciting donations from the private sector.

For their part, the Gallaghers and their five children agreed to work a minimum of 500 so-called "sweat equity hours" constructing their new home and logging 100 or more hours on Habitat For Humanity's next project.

The result, a handsome pine-sided country home situated in the remote woods off Koskela Road, is a tribute to cooperation, hard work and a whole lot of faith.

"This surpasses even the dreams promised us by Habitat For Humanity," said Tom Gallagher, who works as a carpenter.

A stone's throw away from the Gallaghers' new home, on an acre of land just over the West Paris-Woodstock town line, Brian and Ellen Brochu will soon move into their new home, which was also made possible by the Androscoggin Habitat For Humanity.

The Brochus, who currently reside with their seven children in a housing project in Auburn, say they will be delighted to move out of the city and into their nifty three-bedroom, two-bathroom home.

"This is the ultimate," said Brian Brochu, who is employed as a welder at Bath Iron Works, "I'll tell you, if it wasn't for Habitat For Humanity, we wouldn't be able to afford a house of our own--and I have a good job."

Among those in attendance at Sunday's ceremony celebrating the openings of the two houses were Paul Belisle, president of the Androscoggin Habitat For Humanity, numerous religious leaders from the Lewiston-Auburn area, Oxford County Commissioner Norm Ferguson of Hanover, and a collection of Habitat's board members and volunteers.

"This is great, a testament to what can happen when people are helping people. I hope Habitat For Humanity will do some more of this in the future," said Ferguson, who was the day's featured speaker.

With more than 117 affiliates operating in the U.S., it appears likely that Habitat For Humanity will continue to make its benevolence felt in the State of Maine.

"There are some really good people in America. I sure know that," said Brochu.

NEWRY APPOINTS DEPUTY CLERK, TAX COLLECTOR

Newry Selectmen appointed Susan Bowle of Newry last week as the town's new deputy clerk and tax collector.

The two positions have gone unfilled since October, when former deputy clerk and tax collector Sylvia Grey became town clerk and tax collector.

addition, as well as explained why the addition is so badly needed. Patie went over some of the details pertaining to the financial situation and how the project will affect taxation. This was a great presentation. The Bethel Rotary Club urges all residents of the SAD #44 area to learn all the facts before voting on it later this summer.

Bob Saunders gave Rotary information and reflected on history and how we should remember it.

Guests for the morning were Rene McGrew and Terry Ellsmore of Bethel; Fred Collins of Oxford Hills; and Bill Lowther, summer regular.

"Mary" beats the heat --with dreams and delight

By MARK SHANAHAN

At one point during the first act of the Children's Dance Theater's production of "Mary Poppins," a character looks into the audience and states simply, "When you're with Mary Poppins you're suddenly in places you never dreamed of."

Fortunately for the overflow crowd in attendance Friday night, the brilliance and delicacy of those imaginary places overwhelmed the reality of an almost oven-like Helen C. Berry Auditorium.

Borrowing a line from one of the evening's two dozen dance numbers, it was "hot, hot, hot" and I wasn't even moving. Incredibly, clad in their clinging lycra and spandex get-ups, Sue Farrar's dance company showed no signs of wilting in the heat.

Indeed, after a few uncertain steps and a technical foul up or two, Friday's performance ended up a big winner, a tribute to the talent and hard work of Miss Sue's dancers and their parents.

The story, about a clever girl named Jane Banks (delightfully played by Kimberly Tibbets), her restless brother Michael (played convincingly by Brian Zinchuk), and the siblings' relationship with super nanny, Mary Poppins, was punctuated with spirited song and dance numbers, ranging from a classical ballet piece (opening Act III) to the pump and drive of C&C Music Factory (Act II).

Although the evening was weighted towards dance, Heather Roberts' characterization of the magical Mary Poppins, Jim Lowe's take on the grizzled Admiral Boom, Peter Lawton's Bert, and Jane Rolfe's hilarious Cockney Ellen proved that the acting had not been lost in the shuffle.

It was the dancing, however, that roused the audience and finally stole the show. Choreographed by Sue Farrar, who operates the Children's Dance Theater of Bethel, each number was skillfully executed by a team of dancers.

Particularly successful were the tap pieces, including "Darktown Strutters," with dancers Heather Jordan, Renee Royer, Lydia Mills, and Jaime Caron; and "Cabaret" with dancers Jenny Sue Howe, Chelsey Bartlett, Heather Jordan, Carrie Rolfe, Erica Gundersen, Renee Royer, Lydia Mills and Amanda McGrew.

The fantastic finish of Friday's production of "Mary Poppins," "practically perfect" as it was, left the audience breathless and wanting more. But for now—Let's all go fly a kite.

EVENTS PLANNED FOR AMERICAN RIVERS MONTH

June is American Rivers Month, and the Friends of the Androscoggin, a local organization dedicated to improving recreational opportunities on the Androscoggin River is celebrating with a series of events:

The group has cooperated with the Store at Ta-Ka-Radi to produce a canoeing map of the 42 mile stretch of river from Shelburne, N.H. to Rumford. The map will be available at local information outlets next week.

The Friends are supporting Three Rivers Sportsman Club in Hanover in their sponsorship of a canoe race from Bethel to Rumford Point on Saturday, June 20. For information contact Brian Gross in Hanover at 364-2264.

A dedication ceremony will be held at Newt's Landing in West

Bethel on June 30 at 1:30 formally acknowledging the generosity of Roy Newton and Newton-Tebbets Co. in making the site available and placing a plaque on the site to honor Roy's father, Burt "Newt" Newton.

A meeting of the Friends will be held on Tuesday, June 23 at 7 p.m. at Telstar to plan flotillas and events for the summer.

The group will cooperate with the town of Bethel to develop the Davis Mill Site into a canoe facility and to formally thank Dan Davis for the gift of the land.

Anyone interested in getting involved in conservation/recreation issues involving the Androscoggin is encouraged to attend the June 23 meeting. Information on the organization and membership application forms are available from Ken Bohr.

FRANKLIN COUNTY RODEO

The Franklin County Rodeo will be held on June 27 and 28 at the Farmington Fairgrounds.

The competition will include bareback bronc riding events, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling and a fiddling contest.

The rodeo is a charitable event sponsored by the Farmington Rotary Club and has become a major stop on the American Professional Rodeo Association circuit.

Hire Your Kids & Your Spouse in Your Business

This article is brought to you
by Jane D. Gray, CPA

If you own and operate a trade or business, you may be able to get tax-favored dollars from your company by hiring your spouse or children.

Did you know you can pay up to $3,600 in wages to your child free of federal income tax? That's because income from wages can be offset by your child's standard deduction which is $3,600 for 1992. Your business can take a deduction for the wages, thus lowering your individual or corporate tax bill. The net effect is to take $3,600 out of your business completely tax-free. And, if your child is under age 18, and your business is a sole proprietorship or family partnership, the child's earnings are also exempt from Social Security (FICA) and unemployment tax.

To qualify for this tax break, the wages must be paid for necessary work actually performed, and the wages must be reasonable. Essentially, the wages paid to your child should be the same as you would have paid to an unrelated person for the same work.

If you hire your spouse, the spouse's earnings will be fully taxed, but you may be able to increase the fringe benefits your family receives from your business. Certain fringe benefits would be deductible by your business and non-taxable to your spouse. Some examples (depending on your legal form of business): group-term life insurance, medical expense reimbursements, dependent care assistance, company paid travel for business purposes, a company business car, and education assistance. Your spouse might also be eligible to make tax deductible contributions to a company retirement plan or an IRA.

Contact us for details about hiring family members in your business. We can assist you with a plan that maximizes benefits for your family group.

Mahoosuc Arts notes:

The Mahoosuc Arts Council held its annual meeting on June 7. The chair, Art Marshall, called the meeting to order following a reception with entertainment provided by Ross Swain. Thanks were expressed for support, both financial and through volunteer effort, given during this, the sixth year of the Council and the third season as a non-profit body.

While celebrating the successes of the Council, Marshall raised the challenge of becoming financially self-sufficient as a major objective during the next two years.

A full schedule of performances was offered during the 1991-92 program year including six community performances. An effort has been made to provide a diversity of media and performers for both the schools and the wider community.

Fund-raising efforts have been primarily "behind the scenes." The chair noted Wende Gray's coordination of local fund-raising, thanked Gould Academy for its support and in-kind assistance, and expressed appreciation for the continued commitment of founding sponsors. SAD #44 now includes a line item in the annual budget which benefits the Council.

The efforts of the executive directors to secure grant funding were noted. This year marked the completion of the original grant from the Bingham Foundation. The Foundation has agreed to extend the grant for two years, making available $6,000 each year, with the understanding that this is to be a "sunset" grant: meaning that we will need to replace that fund-raising source (accounting for 20 percent of our budget) after the two year time period.

Thanks were given to the Public Relations Committee for its efforts to promote performances, greet those who attend, and sponsor receptions.

The following new board members were elected: Lucia Schwarz, Tim Kavanaugh and Carol Parker. The Council has undergone change, as Marguerite Graham, one of the two executive directors, has resigned. Art thanked both Marguerite and Vicki Rackliffe for their immense efforts.

Marguerite's absence will be felt; all will miss her wonderful energy and enthusiasm. Marshall introduced Kathy Slack, who was approved by the Board to take Marguerite's position beginning June 1. Marguerite thanked Barbara Douglass and Wende Gray who were completing terms on the Board.

Vicki presented a gift of appreciation to Marguerite, who then noted the positive energy shown by the Board during the transition.

The meeting adjourned, with special thanks to Ross Swain for his lively and impeccable piano playing.

The Mahoosuc Arts Council looks forward to Mollycodd Day, as they will be presenting a unique artist: Rick Adam who performs as Professor Paddy-Whack, the One Man Band. Adam's One Man Band consists of over 45 instruments spanning a wide range including instruments such as the accordion, xylophone and bass drum. There's even an alarm clock.

Adam says the band weighs over 50 pounds; an incredible load to carry for a long period of time. Rick will march in the parade in the morning and then perform for children from 1 to 1:30 in front of the flat bed. He'll present a variety show consisting of magic, mime, juggling and his One Man Band. All are welcome, of course. He plans to stay on afterwards and meet and greet folks in the crowd.

Adam was one of six one man bands featured in a PBS special called the "One Man Band Extravaganza." He's someone you'll not want to miss.

DANCE CONCERT—Erica Carson of Bethel, middle row right, will perform with the Energize Us! East dance troupe at Oxford Hills High School on June 20 at 7 p.m. The first annual concert will feature street, jazz modern and theater dances choreographed by artistic director Debi Irons and past and present dancers of the 11 member troupe. Reserved tickets are $10 for the best 100 seats and $5 for general seats for adults, $3 for children 12 and under and seniors 60 and over. Tickets will be on sale at the door. For more information contact Debi Irons at 743-5569.

BETHEL-OGUNQUIT
CONNECTED BY BRIDGE

Eighteen women from Ogunquit and 22 Bethel women recently spent the day at Bumps Pub at Sunday River enjoying bridge, luncheon and each other's company.

Top scorer for the day, with 10570 points, was Gwen Shibles of Ogunquit. Second high went to Barb Merrill, also of Ogunquit, with 8810. A Glad You Came Award was made to Mary Champe of Rumford, with 3380.

The Bethel contingent issued a rematch challenge for the fall and will journey to Ogunquit.

JORDAN REUNION

The descendants of the Rey, Robert (1611-1679) and Sarah Jordan will hold the second national reunion of the "Family Jordan" July 16 to 19. The reunion will be held at the Holiday Inn by the Bay in Portland.

For further information contact: Roland G. Jordan, 42 Hector St, Auburn, Maine. 04210.

MASON FAMILY GATHERING

The Bethel (Maine) Historical Society will host the fourth annual gathering of Mason descendants

(many of whom are descendants of Captain Hugh Mason who settled in Watertown, Mass in 1636) at the Dr. Moses Mason House, Saturday, June 27. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and anyone descended from a Mason ancestor is cordially invited to attend.

Those uncertain of their specific descent from Captain Hugh and his wife Hester may obtain assistance with genealogical questions at the gathering. Everyone attending is urged to present a 3 X 5 card on which their name and address is written as well as the names of their Mason ancestry. These will be posted in the meeting room to assist others in establishing family connections. Mason descendants with family photographs, slides, artifacts, and/or memorabilia that they are willing to exhibit are encouraged to bring any of these materials to the gathering.

There will be a short business meeting as well as tours of the historic Dr. Moses Mason House, headquarters of the Bethel Historical Society, and directions to area cemeteries to locate family lots. Children as well as adults may enjoy a number of lawn games (horse-shoes pitching, badminton, croquet, etc.). Picnics under the trees are encouraged or inside if inclement.

Stories of Dr. Moses Mason will be told and an art show will be held on the Bethel common in front of the Dr. Mason House. Beverages and snacks will be served by the Society throughout the day.

Mason family members are expected from throughout New England. Those wishing further details should call or write Elizabeth Mason Carter, P.O. Box 44, West Bethel, Maine 04286, telephone (207) 836-2343.

Obituaries

WILBERT J. DEROCHE

Mr. Wilbert J. "Da-Da" DeRoche, 71, a resident of Main Street Mexico, Maine, died Wednesday, June 10, 1992 at the Rumford Community Hospital shortly after admission.

He was born October 28, 1920 and lived most of his life in the Mexico area, the son of Eli and Celina (Richard) DeRoche. He graduated from Mexico High School and was a WW II veteran Army Sgt, Battery F, 82nd Coast Artillery, also had worked at Oxford Paper Co. in Rumford and then as a carpenter for James Knight, General Contractor until retirement. He was a communicant of St. Theresa Church; member LePareseux Snowshoe Club; former member Napoleon Ouellette Post #24, American Legion and Robert Shand Post #1641, VFW; and Rumford Falls Aerie #1248, F.O.E.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Jane Richard of Rumford and several nieces and nephews.

At his request, there were no public calling hours, but friends were invited to attend the Memorial services at the Meader & Son Funeral Home, Rumford on June 12, 1992.

Those who desire, please send contributions to the American Cancer Society, Box 456, Brunswick, Maine 04011 in his memory.

At his request, there are no public calling hours and private graveside services will be held at the family's convenience at the Hanover Cemetery.

KATHERINE GLINES ADAMS

Katherine Glines Adams, 93, died Monday at the home of her daughter in Sulphur Springs, where she had made her home the past three years. She was born June 12, 1898, in North Rumford, the daughter of Roscoe G. and Jennie Belle Penley Glines. A resident of the Greater Rumford area for more than 60 years, she was educated in Rumford schools and graduated from Farmington Normal School in the class of 1918.

Mrs. Adams taught first in Long Branch, N.H., and then in the Chisholm School in Rumford and schools in Andover, Bethel, West Sumner and Thompsonville, Conn. She was a member of the Maine Teachers Association, the Connecticut Teachers Association and the National Education Association. Following her retirement, she lived in Florida for several years before moving to Texas. She enjoyed reading, games, the out-of-doors and her children.

Mrs. Adams is survived by three sons, Roscoe G. Truitt of Point Ciana, Fla., Roger A. Adams of Simsbury, Conn., and Herbert L. Adams of Hanover; a daughter, Mrs. William (Marilyn) D'Lizarraga of Sulphur Springs; a sister, Virginia McLaughlin of Bucksport; 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. She was predeceased by two brothers, Herschel and David Glines, and two sisters, Marion Richardson and Ruth Dorion.

Births

Patti and Greg Bennett have proudly announced the birth of a son, Brice Aron, on Sunday, June 7, 1992 in Portland, Maine.

Paternal grandmother, Beverly Bennett and great-grandmother, Katherine Roberts of Bethel, and maternal grandparents, Jim and Pat Hudson of Bethel, great-grandmother, Virginia Black, and great-great Aunt Otes Pegg both of Auburn delightedly welcome Brice.
